

5. Thomas AC, Mills PG, Gibbs NM, et al: Secondary carcinoma of the left atrium simulating myxoma. Br Heart J 44:541–544, 1980.
6. Lokich J: Cardiac complications of malignancy, in Lokich T (ed): Clinical Cancer Medicine—Treatment Tactics. Boston, GK Hall & Co, 1980, pp 30–41.
7. Mead CH: Metastatic carcinoma of the heart secondary to primary carcinoma of the lung. J Thorac Cardiovasc Surg 1:87–98, 1931.
8. Sarlin RF, Schillaci RF, Georges TN, et al: Focal increased lung perfusion and intrapulmonary venoarterial shunting in bronchioloalveolar cell carcinoma. Am J Med 68:618–623, 1980.
9. Peters MN, Hall RJ, Cooley DA, et al: The clinical syndrome of atrial myxoma. JAMA 230:695–701, 1974.

THE LEGACY OF SCIENCE

The legacy of scientific investigation is knowledge: knowledge that extends our awareness, understanding, and appreciation of the universe, the planets, our immediate environment, ourselves, and our relations with others; knowledge that extends our capability to develop and deliver goods and services and to develop and modify social, economic, and political systems.

From: Harrison AJ: Science and science education are in. Science 220:1231, 1983.